LOCAL AND PERSONAL

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By Edson R. Waite, Shawnee, Oklahoma

TEXAS AND TEXANS

TEXAS AND TEXANS.

By Will H. Mayes.

"All Texans for All Texas"

Texas-Minded Efforts

Texas needs to be more Texas-minded—more broad-minded, if you please. There is too much tendency to localize efforts, to be interested only in the things immediately about us. Local pride and local effort are essential to good citizenship and perhaps should come first, but can be oversteered. Our interests are at least State-wide. In many things they are Nation-wide, and in some World-wide. Every citizen should try to extend his information as far as his interests lie. As citizens of Texas, it is plainly our duty to know Texas and to be concerned about everything pertaining to the good of Texas. We can't build a great State in any one city or county. California and Florida have drawn thousands of citizens because the people of those States have placed publicity emphasis more upon the states as wholes, than upon competing localities.

Local Legislation

Even in matters of legislation Texans are inclined to place local interests above those of the State. We have overloaded the State with State schools largely to build up certain communities or sections, duplicating school work at much expense to the taxpayers. Much of the instruction that is given in the University of Texas and State colleges really belongs to the high schools, and some of that attempted by the high schools should be reserved for the University and colleges. Thus a spirit of local competition is making our educational system competitive. In education we should subordinate local pride to the State good.

Penitentiary Problems

If local interests could be set aside the penitentiary problem could soon be remedied. The penitentiary system does not belong to Walker, or Fort Bend, or Travis, or any other county as a source of local revenue, and the interests of any community should not be considered. Legislators should be governed solely by the best interests of the State and the prisoners in studying prison matters. Most of them are, but there are enough others to delay action to the detriment and expense of the entire State. The Texas prisons are a disgrace to Texas, and to remedy conditions we must be Texas-minded. The Texas prison problem is a State and not a local problem.

Panhandle Railroad Fight

Big railroad systems are fighting for possession of the rich Panhandle section of Texas. That is, they are contending for the exclusive right to build lines of railway, to haul freight and to collect freight tolls from the public. The Interstate Commerce Commission is arbitrating the controversies under laws making that one of its duties. It is hard for a disinterested layman to understand why the railroads should be protected against each other by the Government—why the law of the "survival of the fittest" should not be applied to transportation lines. Texas needs and wants more railroads even if some of them do lose money. Texas development is of more concern to Texans than the financial welfare of those who have investments in railroads which they would like to have safeguarded by the government.

Gulf and Western

About all the preliminaries have been settled, and the consent of the Interstate Commission has been secured, to fill in the gaps on the proposed railway line from San Antonio to San Angelo, and doubtless the enterprise will soon be financed. This has been needed for more than 30 years and will be a great boon to a number of Texas towns. It will be especially helpful to Fredericksburg, Mason and Brady, all grow-print, you will know that we managed somehow to coax the burner to function at last.

But that is not all! While we were sweating blood over our own troubles, Editor Jeffrey, the retiring editor of the Sabinian Sentinel, came in with another tale of woe. He had started with his family in their car for the lower Rio Grande valley, but while driving down the highway through Hondo another car came in from a side street and biffed his car such a blow as to send it to the shop for repairs. Luckily none of the occupants of the cars were injured and the auto mechanics over at the Chevrolet shop soon had them going on their way.

But who says printers never have troubles.

P. S. If we don't get the burner fixed pretty pronto you won't read this when you read it—if you get ing prosperous towns, but all needing better railroad facilities. This should be followed soon by the building of the line from Abilene to Cross Plains, and on to Brownwood, to give Abilene and the vast section of the North and Northwest of it direct routes to two Texas ports—Galveston and Corpus Christi.

Building Cannery

Recently this column contained a caution against over-planting tomatoes unless the growers have accessible canneries. A company is arranging to build a $100,000 cannery at Donna to be ready in time for the spring tomato crop. The plant will be 145 by 200 feet in size, built of tile and stucco and will have capacity for canning 250,000 cans daily. While it will can only tomatoes this year, it will be prepared to handle fruits and vegetables next season. The tomato grower there will "play safe."

Colorado Dam Lake

Overflow rights have been obtained on 25,000 acres of land along the Colorado river near Kingsland to be inundated by the proposed hydro-electric dam, and some of the land has already been purchased. The owners of this land will buy elsewhere, and thus the money will be doubly spent. The lake will be seven miles wide in some places and about miles wide in some places and about much for the development of a large area in Texas. In the meantime, the plans for the Brownwood dam, which were delayed by the controversy over the river water rights, are going forward steadily neither project interfering with the other.

Urges Texas Granite

Congressman T. P. Lee has written the owners of granite quarries in Llano and Burnet counties urging them to bid on the United States Government construction work, and has recommended that Texas granite be given consideration in the building program now in progress in Washington. The world produces no better or more beautiful building stone, and if the Texas quarries can compete with others in prices there is good reason why more Texas granite should be used in Government buildings throughout the country. The Texas Capitol building is standing evidence of the beauty and durability of Texas granite.

Why Kenedy Prospers

The short cotton crop was some blow to Kenedy, of course, but so long as that prosperous city is shipping out carloads of corn, cane seed and hay, as it has been doing, and the farmers have plenty left to sell and to feed to their stock as the Advance reports, Kenedy will, continue to prosper. These are only a few of the "home-grown" products that are enriching the Kenedy section and making the people glad they live in so good a land.

Improving Their Flocks

As a result of systematic culling more than $100,000 worth of chickens are being shipped out of Runnels county to make room for better stock. The Thanksgiving and Christmas shipments to turkeys exceeded $125,000, and the egg crop sold the past season was estimated at $150,000. It is easily seen that Runnels county has become an important poultry center.

Club Women Save

A report from Rockdale is that the Milam County Home Demonstration Clubs realized more than $44,000 from their products the past year, 274 women being members of the clubs. Of even greater value, perhaps, were the home improvements made by these club members, to enumerate which would require a full column of newspaper. Public demonstrations to the number of 256 were given 3,313 people, showing the activities of the clubs. It is surprising what such a group of women can accomplish in one year under such excellent leadership as they appear to have had in Milam county.

Our Irish!

P. S. by Snooks. The burner is limping along and the only reason it is limping is Joe Meyer, through pure kindness and goodness, got up early this morning and put in a while working with it—therefore, it is burning. Everybody give fifteen for Joe for getting the wheels of the printing industry in motion once again.

G. B. DEALEY, PRESIDENT OF THE DALLAS (TEXAS) MORNING NEWS, SAYS:

THAT most advertisers in these days have learned the necessity of telling in their advertisements the exact truth, without deception or exaggeration. Newspapers of the better sort, also, now refuse to insert ads in their columns that seem to be dishonest in their statements, or that cater to immoral conditions. Business morals are much higher in quality than they used to be, and it is recognized that in the long run such advertising is against business interests.

Then, too, advertisements have a greater psychological appeal than formerly. They are generally prepared by experts who have faith in the quality of the goods they advertise, and who understand how best to appeal to the demands latent in the minds of their prospective customers. They also try to strengthen the appeal by careful illustrations, and by an artistic display of the advertisement as a whole. The expert, of course, must be familiar with the many variations of human nature in different classes of purchasers. Since women, for example, are largely the buyers at retail, advertisements of department stores or marketing sales cater as much as possible to the special tastes, desires and points of view of women.

A really important change is the growing recognition that the producer, the seller, the advertising medium, and the consumer have common interests. The seller no longer tries to force unwanted goods on unwilling customers. He tries to find out what the consumer wants and to supply that at the lowest possible price. The seller aids the producer by keeping him informed of the varying needs and demands of his customers, as a guide to production. The newspaper is the agency that brings together seller and buyer by publishing in attractive form the information where needed goods may be had. The modern advertiser no longer thinks of his advertising bill as a gift to the newspaper. He considers it as an investment, bringing good returns. How long, for example, would a department store keep out of bankruptcy if it sought to economize expenses by inserting no advertisements in the papers?

THIS CLOSER CO-OPERATION IS LARGELY ELIMINATING THE FORMER WASTES OF ADVERTISING BY BRINGING THE RIGHT GOODS TO THE RIGHT PLACE AT THE RIGHT TIME, AND BY PRESENTING THIS INFORMATION ATTRACTIVELY TO THOSE WHO HAVE NEEDS THEY DESIRE TO SATISFY. TRUTHFUL ADVERTISING, EXPERTLY DONE, IS BENEFICIAL TO ALL PARTIES CONCERNED AND THIS IS ITS CHIEF JUSTIFICATION.

THE ANVIL HERALD OFFERS ITS SERVICES TO YOU AS YOUR ADVERTISING MEDIUM.

MRS. ALFRED M. FINGER DEAD.

Death again visited our little community during the early hours of last Saturday morning, February 1, 1930, and snatched from our midst the beloved wife of our esteemed Postmaster, Mr. Alf. M. Finger. Although Mrs. Finger had been ailing for some time, her death was rather sudden and came as a surprise to her relatives and friends and a shock to the community.

After services at the home Monday morning, the remains were carried to the church, of which she had been a faithful and exemplary member, and there a High Mass of Requiem was sung and absolution given by her pastor, Rev. T. A. Flynn. When the service in the church was completed the long funeral procession proceeded immediately to D'Hanis where the burial took place.

Mrs. Finger's maiden name was Theresa Koch and her parents are Mr. and Mrs. John M. Koch. She was born in D'Hanis, October 2, 1892, and grew to young womanhood at that place. On November 11, 1913, she was happily married to Mr. Alfred M. Finger. One son, Melvin, now about twelve years of age, was born of this union. Besides her husband, son and parents she is also survived by one brother and seven sisters to mourn her sad and untimely passing.

Her sorrowing husband and son wish to take this opportunity to offer their heartfelt gratitude to their relatives and kind friends for their prayers and many kind expressions of sympathy in their hour of great sorrow and also for the many beautiful floral offerings. May her soul rest in peace.

CASTROVILLE, TEXAS, WEDNESDAY, FEB. 5, 1930

The past week has been very cold and intermingled with drizzly disagreeable weather, in consequence whereof news was very scarce this week.

Our old friend, Mr. Ed. Tschirhart, told us a peculiar story of a burglary committed at his home one day of the past week. Ed. had finished his supper and knowing that his son, Julius, would come in from San Antonio he placed the eatables on the stove to keep them warm, but left the bread on the table. When Julius arrived he decided to load some wood before eating his supper. Ed. closed his door and then they drove to the adjoining lot, loaded the wood and returned to the house. When they went inside they found that the bread was gone. Ed., so far, has not missed anything else. We presume the poor fellow was just hungry.

We were indeed sorry to learn of the demise of Mrs. Rohlf Balzen of Knippa. The lady has many, many friends here and at LaCoste and also a number of relatives. We join this entire community in sympathy with the bereaved and grief-stricken husband and motherless children. May she rest in peace.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schneider and children of San Antonio visited Mrs. M. A. Graff here Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Haby and brother, Stanley, of Bader Settlement visited their sick mother, Mrs. Edmund Haby, at Santa Rosa in.

BAPTIST BADGERS BREAK EVEN IN FOUR MATCHES

Team "Snaps-Out" of Recent Slump in Final Game with Lytle High Pirates

A even break—two wins and two losses—was the result of four games played by the Badgers. A loss to Devine high school and a victory from Lytle town team were the results of the Saturday night games. Monday night, the Pirates of Lytle High school won the first game of the double header but were smoothed by the Badgers in the second encounter.

In the last game the Badgers came out of a slump they have been in for several weeks and played their lastest games of the season. The fact that the scoring was divided between five players shows that the Baptists were passing and using team work. The Hondo team has been handicapped by the loss of Jones, Pettis and Taylor.

Devine 50; Badgers 19

Devine high school took revenge for a previous defeat at the hands of the Baptists by sweeping to a 50 to 19 victory last Saturday night. A let-up in the second and fourth quarters and the making of but one foul by the Badgers to ten scored by Devine were the factors of the run-away score. With the score 30 to 15 at the start of the fourth period, the Badger eased-up to get rest for their game with the Lytle town team and Devine scored 20 points before the closing whistle. C. Wright was the whole show for the Badgers, he scored 10 points to lead the Baptists and was in every play. High scoring honors went to Sorrell, who hit the loop for 17 counters. He was followed by Dixon and Sadler with 11 and 10 respectively.

The line-ups were:
Hondo (19) (50) Devine
Wright (10) (17) Sorrell
Snooks (3) (10) Sadler
B. C. Rucker (2) (11) Dixon
Smith (4) (6) Frazier
Bailey Tilley
Subs: Hondo, F. Rucker; Devine, Thomas (6).

Score by quarters:
Badgers 6 3 6 4—19
Devine 10 14 6 20—50

Lytle Town Team 17; Badger 25
With Wright leading the way by scoring 16 points, the Badgers took a slow match from Lytle's Town Squad Saturday 25 to 17. The Baptists started with a rush and grabbed a lead, and in the security of this margin froze the ball most of the time. Herring and Pearson put up the best game for the losers.

The line-ups were:
Hondo (25) (17) Lytle
Wright (10) (1) Allen
Snooks (3) (4) Pearson

Subs: Lytle; Riley (3) and Tate.
Score by quarters:
Badgers 8 1 5 11—25
Lytle 2 3 2 10—17

Lytle High 14; Badgers 10

What could be called a freak ball game, was won by Lytle High School Monday night. The game was slow—in fact so slow that only 6 field goals were made in the entire game. Lytle grabbed 5 of the two-point shots and Wilson scored the other one for the Badgers. The Baptists were sinking their free tosses and made 8 points in that manner. Wilson, by virtue of his field goal, lead the scorers of both teams with 5 points. Next came Malsbury and Herring of Lytle with 4 each.

The line-ups were:
Hondo (10) (14) Lytle
Wright (1) Gray
Wilson (5) (4) Malsbury
Bailey (3) Johnson
Snooks (3) (4) Herring
Mask (2) Rhodes
Subs: Hondo; F. Rucker, Stanley (1) and B. C. Rucker (1). Lytle, Riley.

Lytle High School 5; Badgers 26
A lesson entitled "Teamwork and Passing" was demonstrated to Lytle by the Badgers in the second encounter Monday night. The Baptist made no effort to exhibit defensive work, as the ball was in their possession the majority of the time. G. Wilson, Wright and Snooks tied for scoring honors with 6 each and second place was tied for by Stanley and F. Rucker with 4 points each. The feature of the game was Red Rucker's two goals. They were the first points made this year by the scrappy Badger. B. C. Rucker and Bradley Baily also turned in good games, for what defensive work was needed was capably performed by them. The Lytle team was fighting and playing good ball, but simply were out-classed.

SUGGESTIONS FOR VALENTINE PARTY.

St. Valentine's Day offers a fine reason for giving a party where fun and frolic and sentiment may hold full sway. The table decorations should be in keeping with the day—hearts and darts and flowers. Lacy, old-fashioned valentines may serve as place cards. Pink or red is usually the predominant note in the color scheme and the foods which make up the party menu can be made to fit in very nicely with the color scheme as they do in the Valentine dinner menu suggested below.

Menu for St. Valentine Dinner
Celery Stuffed with Cream Cheese
Mixed with Currant Jelly
Cream of Tomato Soup
Heart-shaped Croutons
Baked Ham Harvard Beets
Potato Balls with Paprika Butter
Cranberry and Grapefruit Salad in Heart Molds

Ice Cream with Cherry Sauce
Little Cakes with Pink Frosting
Coffee Pink Mints
Cut bread with small heart-shaped cookie cutter for the croutons and toast as usual.

For the potatoes, cook the balls cut out with a French potato cutter and when done roll them in melted butter which has been liberally colored with paprika.

Grape fruit molded with cranberry jelly, served on lettuce with mayonnaise dressing is a lovely-to-look-at and a delicious-to-eat salad.

WINTER VEGETABLE DISHES.

By Betty Barclay.

When fresh vegetables are scarce and expensive the wise housewife will turn to the canned variety. By the use of skill and ingenuity in their preparation she will have little difficulty in banishing her family's regrets for the fresh peas, corn, asparagus and lima beans of the summer months.

The main objects in preparing canned, or for that matter, any variety of the table should be variety and the accentuation of their original flavors. The first can be achieved by a willingness to try new recipes. As for the latter, a little sugar, used not as a sweetener but as a seasoning agent, will do wonders in bringing back the flavors which the vegetables possessed when they were picked in the garden.

Corn and Pepper Scallop

To two cups of canned corn add one-half cup milk, one finely chopped green pepper, one finely chopped red pimiento, one teaspoon sugar, one teaspoon salt, and one-eighth teaspoon pepper. Fill greased individual ramekins one-third full. Then sprinkle with fine bread crumbs. Add another layer of the corn mixture. Sprinkle again with bread crumbs, and continue the process until the ramekins are full. Sprinkle bread crumbs on top, and dot each ramekin with a half-teaspoon of butter. Bake for ten or twelve minutes in an oven at 450 degrees.

Savory String Beans

Shred two medium-size onions and saute them in bacon fat until tender and lightly browned. Add one pint strained, canned tomatoes. Season with one teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon pepper, dash of cayenne, two cloves and two teaspoons sugar. Bring to a boil and add one quart canned string beans. Simmer for about fifteen minutes. Add a teaspoon of butter and serve.

A Breath of the Atmosphere of Spain

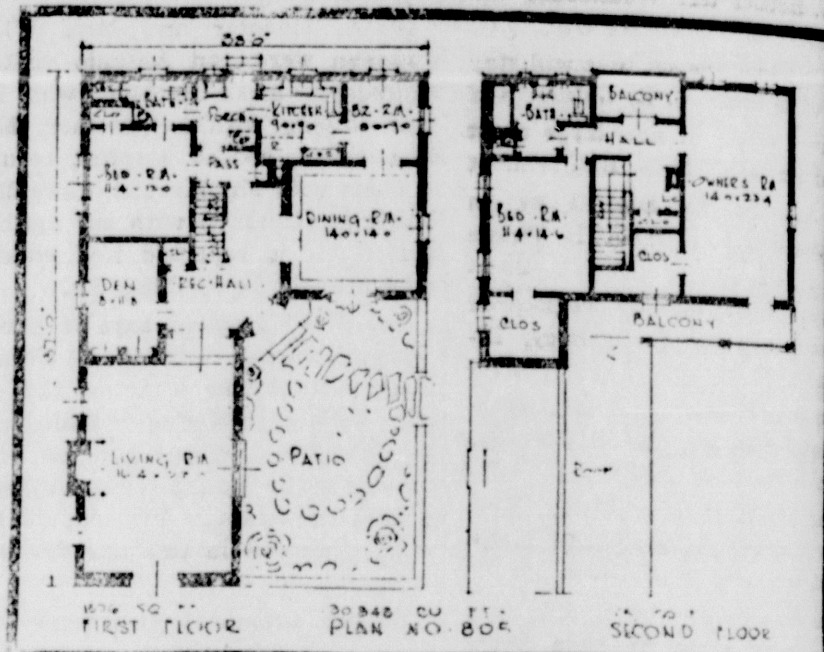

THE PALO ALTO—DESIGN NO. 805

LAZILY basking in the bright California sunshine this quaintly old-fashioned home—stead, with its semi-tropical shrubbery and trees, is like a whiff out of Mexico or Old Spain. It is distinctly Spanish in every line, from the tiled roof to the grilled windows and the wall enclosed patio off the living room. And how eloquently the primitive railed porch on the second floor speaks of the siesta!

This is essentially a Southern type of home. It isn't equipped for the severe temperature of a Northern winter. It lacks a furnace and all the rest of the necessary heating system. In California the big open fireplace in the living room is sufficient for cool evenings, and winter never comes in the sense we Northerners know it.

But the heating equipment could be added with no extortionate cost. And after all, when one studies the floor plans and fully appreciates the admirable arrangement there is no denying that it reaches out to you.

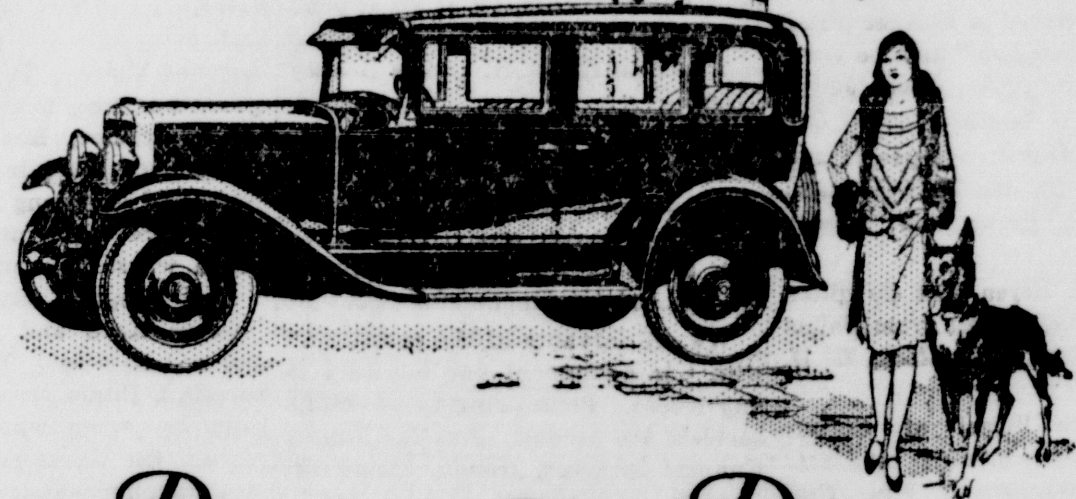

A "blanket" of earth is a good thing for bramble-fruit bushes in cold sections of the country, especially where cold, dry winds prevail. Gently bend down the plants all one way, lengthwise of the row, and cover them with a few inches of earth. In large patches this can be done after the plants have been bent over and fastened by plowing a furrow over the row from each side. In the spring, uncover the plants and straighten up the canes.

Greater Beauty - Finer Performance

Never has a Chevrolet car won greater praise for its appearance than the new Chevrolet Six. Its new Fisher bodies reveal in every detail the artistry that has made the Fisher name famous throughout the motor car world. In beauty of line and color, in balance and harmony of design, they represent one of the greatest style triumphs in Fisher history. Upholsteries are richer and more durable. The instrument panel carries a new and more attractive grouping of the control instruments. Seats are wider and deeper. In fact, not a single feature has been overlooked that would add to the comfort and convenience of both driver and passengers.

In addition to its new beauty, the new Chevrolet Six represents a remarkable advance in every phase of performance. Its improved six-cylinder valve-in-head engine has been increased to 50 horsepower—giving faster acceleration, and greater reserve power. Steering has been made safer and easier. Four Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers provide exceptional riding comfort. Fully enclosed, internal-expanding, weather-proof brakes give positive braking control. And numerous structural improvements add to the car's dependability, endurance and long life. Come in today and see this car. And remember, it is now available—

BIRTHDAY OF SCOUTING IN AMERICA FEBRUARY THE 8th

Tune up your radio and invite the troop, or at least your patrol to enjoy with you a Scout Program Saturday night, February 8th. Because of the courtesy of the two nationwide broadcasting companies, unusual facilities are to be available. Over the network of the National Broadcasting Company the Scout Oath and Law will be presented by a national speaker, whom we hope will be President Walter W. Head of Chicago. The Columbia chain will broadcast between 8:30 and 9:00 o'clock a Scout Program by Dr. John H. Finley, Associate Editor of the New York Times and Chief Scout Executive James E. West. This program includes selections by Seymour's Boy Scout Bank of Brooklyn, New York.

Watch your daily papers for information as to which stations will carry the Boy Scout programs on each of the national hook-ups. More than 135 local radio stations will participate on Anniversary night, or at some other time during the week.

Later we are to hear a program in which President Hoover will address the Boy Scouts of America at a dinner in the new Willard Hotel at Washington, D. C., at which seven members of his cabinet will be present. They are as follows: Hon. Charles Curtis, Hon. Nicholas Longworth, Hon. Andrew W. Mellon, Hon. Patrick J. Hurley, Hon. Ray Lyman Wilbur, Hon. Arthur M. Hyde, Hon. Robt. P. Lamont and Hon. James J. Davis, together with John Barton Payne, Chairman, American Red Cross; Mr. William Green, President, American Federation of Labor and Mr. William Butterworth, President U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

The fact that some of our outstanding national characters are seriously thinking about this great international spare hour program for boys, should convince some of our readers that our efforts are worth while.

Let's make Scouting what it ought to be in Southwest Texas.

We are looking for some reports from the several troops of the Area as to what part of the program for anniversary week they have tried out in their respective communities.

More camp site news soon.

Cool Salads for Hot Days

WITH hot days in the offing, every housewife likes to serve cooling salads, but somehow the idea of preparing one in the stifling afternoon for supper doesn't sound so attractive. So why not make the salad in the morning when you are in the kitchen anyway? Use gelatin to mold the fruits or vegetables, put it in the ice-box to keep cool, and there your refreshing salad is, in the evening—all ready to turn out and serve.

Colorful and Cheerful

Some recipes for gelatin salads are:

Jellied Cheese and Pineapple Salads: Soak one tablespoon gelatin in four tablespoons cold water, then dissolve over hot water. Mash two three-ounce cream cheeses, add two cups crushed pineapple and eighteen sliced, stuffed olives. Add dissolved gelatin, and season to taste. Pour into individual wet molds and chill. Serve unmolded on lettuce, garnishing with whole stuffed olives and cream mayonnaise.

Jellied Asparagus and Pepper Salad: Soften one tablespoon gelatin in one-fourth cup cold water. Add enough water to juice from a can of asparagus tips to make one cup. Add one bay leaf and one sprig celery tops, and boil three minutes. Strain over gelatin, and stir until dissolved. Add one and one-half finely diced green peppers, one sliced, boiled carrot and one-fourth teaspoon salt. Arrange asparagus tips, tip end down, around the edge of a fluted mold. Pour gelatin mixture in center and chill. Serve, unmolded, on lettuce, garnished with mayonnaise.

New
yet sixteen years old!
GENERAL MOTORS'
lowest-priced
eight

The development of the New Oakland Eight in reality goes back sixteen years. Several of the engineers responsible for its design participated in the production of General Motors' first eight, in 1914. Their extensive knowledge of eight-cylinder engines has resulted in a car of remarkably sound basic design, as well as one which has many advanced features. (Its 85-horsepower engine develops one horsepower for every 37 pounds of car weight. This explains why few cars are as fast—why few, if any, can climb hills so quickly or accelerate so swiftly in traffic. Those who have driven it know how well it merits the description, "the car with superior performance." (The New Oakland's power plant is also exceptionally smooth. Its inherent eight-cylinder smoothness has been increased by a complete down-draft fuel system—new type cylinder heads insuring uniform combustion—laminated steel spring and rubber engine mountings. (Considering its superior performance, exceptional smoothness and the beauty of its new Fisher bodies, the New Oakland Eight is very moderately priced. Thus many who have wanted to own a fine eight-cylinder automobile will find it a car of unusual appeal. Come in and drive it today.

MRS. ROLF BALZEN DIED.

Last Saturday night at 8 o'clock Mrs. Rolf Balzen, nee Mary Marquis, of Knippa, was called to her eternal reward. Mrs. Balzen was a very highly esteemed Christian wife, mother, friend and neighbor and widely and favorably known in Knippa, Quibi and adjacent communities. The last 23 years of her life Mrs. Balzen spent with her husband and family on her farm-home near Knippa. Here she also passed peaceably away last Saturday night in the bosom of her devoted family. Nearly four years ago Mrs. Balzen was afflicted with a stroke of paralysis and never fully recovered her former health and strength. All that medical knowledge and skill and tender care and nursing could do for her during these years of affliction was rendered her abundantly. A second stroke of paralysis Saturday afternoon ushered her out of time into eternity. May she rest in peace and ever enjoy that eternal glory and bliss promised by God to all who love and serve Christ faithfully to the end of their course here below. The burial of Mrs. Balzen took place last Monday afternoon, interment being made in the cemetery at Knippa and Rev. C. P. Haaskarl, of Bethlehem's Lutheran church of Quibi, officiating. While the church choir of Knippa, under the direction of Rev. G. Langner of the Lutheran church of Knippa, sang several appropriate hymns.

In spite of the threatening weather conditions, the attendance was exceptionally large, many having come from Hondo, Quibi, Castroville, etc. to pay their last tributes of love and esteem to the beloved departed one. The many and beautiful floral offerings covered her grave and were a testimony of the high esteem in which she was held by friends and neighbors.

From her biography read at the grave the following interesting data was gathered: Mrs. Balzen was born of Christian parents March 1, 1868, at Quibi. On the following May 17 she received the sacrament of holy baptism in Bethlehem Lutheran church at Quibi, and renewed her baptismal vows in the same church and place, April 2, 1882, in confirmation, and to the end of her life was loyal and faithful to the Lord Jesus and His community to young womanhood and as such entered the marriage estate December 12, 1891, with Rolf Balzen, her now mourning husband. The issue of this union were nine children, four sons and five daughters. Two of the latter preceeded their mother in death. Aside of her husband, Mrs. Balzen is survived by her sons, Julius, Robert, Oscar and Max, all of Knippa and her daughters, Mesdames W. I. Dillard of Uvalde, F. G. Bremer of Tynan and Otto Falkenberg of Knippa, ten grandchildren also survive her and two brothers and two sisters, namely Julius Marquis of Cuero, Texas, and Alex Marquis of New Orleans, La., Mrs. Jacob Breiten of Dunlay and Mrs. C. W. Grell of Hondo. The Anvil Herald joins the great host of friends who deplore and mourn the death of this good woman.

PIGS AND POETRY.

Known to many of you as the author of "Amie's Poems," the title of my article may appear to be somewhat far fetched or, taken as a whole, you may stamp it as a leaning toward poetic license but when one is able to transform the commonplace tasks into those of honorable mention it behooves us to pass the good word along.

Living in a community where a neighborhood spirit runs rife I was presented with a trophy which is looked upon as both hard work and undesirable, tedious labor for the majority of farmer's wives. Having lived on a farm among milk pails, pots, pans and pigs, minus the poetry, this well meaning friend felt I could make good use of this leering, lopped, pig-headed porker of the past. I had faint memories of a boiling kettle, spluttering as it merrily spluttered and also of the improvised slide on the kitchen floor. To be sure I doted on head cheese but only when someone else used their head (for the process, not the cheese) and so

I set about to figure out the question when "two heads are better than one?" The result of my carefully planned day were so amazingly simple that I wanted to tell you the task may be mitigated to a very few steps, indeed.

Soaking the well scrubbed, split head pieces in salt water to draw out the loosened blood vessels I secured a large kettle and, covering them with water, cooked the contents with onions, but that is left to the individual taste. When easily considered well-done I removed the kettle and set it aside to cool overnight, but when cooled you may continue your work if you wish and time permits. The fat and all grease had formed in a clear, lard-like, top layer and was lifted in sheets from the cooked meat jelly beneath, an item that will be appreciated by those who have had head cheese so greasy that it was not appealing to the palate. Taking the hogs head out of the congealed liquor residue I removed the undesired fat and placed the appetizing meat and good portions in a pan and chopped it in the wooden mixing bowl. No, I do not favor food grinder for this particular process as it makes a pasty meat product. You are now considering the seasoning and that may be as you prefer, sage, summer savory, celery or just salt and pepper but this seemed to be the most interesting of all, the seasoning was put into my liquor after I had heated the jelly stock (very little is needed) and I leave it to you to decide which you prefer, 'trying to season the lumpy meat with some well flavored and the rest unseasoned and your meat mashed or pouring your rich stock into the wating cube-like pieces of chipped meat?' The ease with which I made head-cheese was nothing more or less than a very simple task and hoping you may all profit by my own personal experience. I have found there is poetry in motion whether the rhythm of rhyme or the poetic attitude towards pigs and take it all in all it is simply heads or tails, which wins, pigs or poetry, sold or retold, head-cheese made at home or retail-ed at dealer's prices.

GLYCERIN MIXTURE STOPS CONSTIPATION.

The simple mixture of glycerin, buckthorn bark, saline, etc. (Adlerika) acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel and relieves constipation in TWO hours! Brings out old waste matter you never thought was in your system. Don't waste time with pills or remedies which clean only PART of the bowels, but let Adlerika give stomach and bowels a REAL cleansing and see how good you feel.

W. H. WINDROW, DRUGGIST.

Hens can't drink frozen water and they won't eat dry mash freely unless they have water to drink. To keep the water from freezing overnight some sort of electric heater is advisable. Or just put an electric light with a carbon bulb in a pail. The bulb should be painted black or covered tightly with black cloth, so that no light will be thrown in the pail. Home-made electric heaters are sometimes made by soldering a quart can to the bottom inside of a 2-gallon pail. An opening is then cut through this and electric bulb is placed in the quart can. The whole apparatus should be mounted in a suitable frame so the hens can drink from the pail conveniently

"Gratitude To Sargon Is Beyond Words"

MRS. WM. N COCHRAN

"Ever since I was a comparatively young woman I suffered from stomach trouble and nervousness. I was terribly constipated, bilious, rundown and miserable. The way Sargon ended my troubles seems little less than a miracle.

"The first normal bowel movement I have had in years I owe to Sargon Soft Mass Pills. My gratitude to the Sargon treatment is beyond words."—Mrs. Wm. N. Cochran, 1147 Harrison St., Portland, Oreg. Sargon's fame is based on actual results—not empty promises. Millions use it—millions praise it!

The Wisdom of Nature

The wisdom of nature is seen everywhere; By instinct its creatures are taught to prepare. The squirrel quits playing around in the trees. To store nuts for Winter; he knows it will freeze. And the busy bee, also, knows just what to do. It stores honey the whole Summer through. It looks like a lesson from this we should take To not only work but save what we make. The HONDO STATE BANK, knowing Nature is wise, Would not undertake to better advise.

THE LIO N'S LILAC

OREGON COW CRASHES WORLD RECORD.

Young Producer Performs Difficult Feat Second Time.

Breaking the world championship record of another Oregon Jersey cow, The Lion's Lilac, owned by Harry D. Iliff of Independence, Oregon, has completed the highest official 305-day butterfat production record in the history of the Jersey breed.

Started on test at the age of 3 years and 11 months she yielded 926.55 pounds of butterfat and 13,844 pounds of milk, the equivalent of 1,158 pounds of butter and 6,439 quarts of milk, in 305 days.

On account of the phenomenal yield of The Lion's Lilac Mr. Iliff continued her test and at the end of 365 days she had produced 1,086.20 pounds of butterfat and 16,604 pounds of milk, the equivalent of 1,375 pounds of butter and 7,722 quarts of milk.

Ten different supervisors, six from the Oregon State Agricultural College, two from Washington and two from Idaho, checked Lilac's yield during the test. She was milked by machine throughout the year. Mr. Iliff is, unfortunately, partially disabled by rheumatism.

Mr. Iliff now has the unique distinction of being the only Jersey breeder in the world to own four living Jersey cows that have produced over 1,000 pounds of butterfat, or 1,250 pounds of butter, in a year.

One of these cows, Imp. Xenia's Oxford Lilac, is the dam of The Lion's Lilac. These two cows are the only Jersey dam and daughter both of which have produced more than 1,000 pounds of butterfat in a 365-day test.

Each of the four 1,000-pound cows in Mr. Iliff's herd holds a world championship in a different age class. The Lion's Lilac, two world records. She achieved her other world championship with her previous production record of 742.44 pounds of butterfat and 10,752 pounds of milk in 305 days made in a test started as a yearling. This yield, which has not been exceeded to date by a yearling cow of any breed, gave The Lion's Lilac the highest medal award of the American Jersey Cattle Club, the Medal of Merit.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Iliff give their personal attention to their Jersey herd which rarely numbers more than twelve milking cows. The success of the Iliffs in developing four 1,000 pound cows in a herd so small is an example of what may be accomplished by breeders who use discernment in the herd and who use progressive methods in the care and feeding of these animals.

Hondo, Texas.

Farms for the man who wants to farm; ranches for the man who wants to ranch; town property for either who wants to retire and move to town. We have the place to suit you. See Hondo Land Company.

Methods of feeding, as well as the feeds themselves, have much to do with successful feeding of poultry. One of the most important points is regularity in feeding. Growing chicks, market poultry, as well as laying and brooding stock, must be fed regularly to get the best results.

Palatability of the ration is another factor. A variety of grains should be given, though the fiber must be kept to a minimum to avoid too bulky a ration. Another point to remember is the effect of the feed on the product. Yellow corn produces a darker-colored yolk than does white corn. Alfalfa tends to produce dark-colored yolks, and wheat and oats tend to produce light-colored yolks.

Some feeds affect the flavor of eggs. Laying hens kept on bare yards, without access to green feed, if fed highly flavored products such as onions or geranium leaves, produce eggs flavored with these feeds. Broilers or roasters fed some grades of cod-liver oil up to killing time take on a distinctly fishy flavor. Another point is the need of different rations by different classes of poultry. Growing chicks, for example, need less protein and different minerals than do laying hens.

An expensive outlay is not necessary for fattening beef calves. A small, well-fenced lot; a shed open on the South with a good roof, feed troughs or bunks, hayracks, and a trough or tank for water are practically all that is required. Twenty square feet of floor space per calf is adequate for shelter, while two or three times as much lot space is usually needed. If the lot is likely to become very muddy it should be paved or roofed over unless an abundance of bedding can be put down cheaply to keep the calves dry and clean and to save liquid manure. They should have a dry bed at night, and in the North protection from cold winds and snow.

250.00 REWARD.

The above reward will be paid for information leading to the arrest and conviction of any person stealing Gasoline or Oil from the Texas Company Bulk station at D'Hanis, Texas.

M. A. ZINSMEYER,
20-tf. Agent.

BANKERS FIND GROUP BANKING WIDESPREAD

13 Billion Dollars of Bank Assets in Affiliated Systems Numbering 1,850 Members— Nearly Every State.

Over 1,850 banks with more than $13 billion dollars in resources are shown to be associated with chain group banking systems in the United States in facts recently gathered by the Economic Policy Commission of the American Bankers Association. The chairman of the commission, R. S. Hacht of New Orleans, said that the facts indicate that 71 per cent of our banks and 18 per cent of our banking resources are in the great net of group banking that now covers almost every part of the country.

The commission's facts comprised the group banking affiliations in the broadest sense of the term, the report said. They included those groups in which the controlling element was a particular bank, there being reported instances of this class involving banks and about $6,473,000,000 in group banking resources. They also included groups in which a non-banking holding company, not subject to any particular bank, was in control of this class 28 instances of and of this class 380 banks and $5,353,000,000 in resources. The report also included groups in which control was exercised by individual persons and these cases numbered 187, involving 1,071 banks and $11,468,000,000 in assets.

The Total Figures

The total was over $13,275,000,000 in group banking resources. Some of the systems comprised 50 to 100 banks each. The offices of the groups were found in all jurisdictions, but nine of the groups had their headquarters in the District of Columbia. The report says, "banking is in which a commercial bank, a company and an investment company and sometimes a savings bank, are held together by some form of holding and operated as complementary elements in an organization under complete financial supervision. We have held that such groups are similar to a departmentalized bank in the purposes and operations from a chain or group banking system."

For purposes of the present report the chain or group banks as systems in which centralized control, whether corporate or personal and rigid or informal, directs the lines of two or more complete banks, not functionally complementary, each working on its own capital under its own personnel and located in one or more cities or states."

Commenting on the question whether the rapid development of chain banking was in the nature of a reaction against restrictions imposed on banking by the banking laws, the report says that the chain does not wholly confirm the theory since chain banking is not in some states where virtual restriction is imposed on banking, as well as in those where the establishment of branch banks is prohibited. It adds:

Question of Branch Banking

Never the facts do show that chain banking laws have been a factor in some cases, and probably in others, in the spread of chain banking. Instances have come to our attention where expansion along chain lines has been carried out by banks whose expansion along chain lines was stopped by the operation of state laws prohibiting branches. Yet whether expansion has been along branch bank lines or the laws had imposed no barrier it is impossible to say. There is a well developed banking system in some sections that the chain method brings to outlying banks strength and efficiency of a big institution without depriving them of local individuality and sympathy. In view of the mixed factors we feel it is unsafe to generalize to what bearing branch banking has on chain developments.

The recent era of rapid chain bank expansion has found specific recognition in some state legislative action to restrict or control group banking. Also we find a difference of opinion among bank commissioners who have expressed their sentiments regarding chain banking."

Forword to the report, issued in New York City headquarters, the chairman says that "the Economic Policy Commission does not stand in advocacy of or in opposition to this new method of conducting banking resources through the combination of banks into groups and, but is simply offering as a fact the body what we believe is the complete national picture of this growing movement."

SCHOOL SAVINGS GROW

Total of 4,222,935 school children reported in school savings banking in the United States during the last year, depositing $28,672,196 and up net savings of $10,533,928. The total bank balances now credited to this movement to above $50 million, according to the annual report of the Savings Bank division of the American Bankers Association. Schools to the number of 15,000 are enrolled in the plan.

PHENOMENAL GAIN IN TRUST SERVICES

By JOHN G. LONSDALE
President American Bankers Association

SO phenomenal has been the increase of trust business that statisticians are unable to keep a true record of its advancement.

There are now something like 3,500 active trust departments in banks in America, while in 1900 only 165 active trust departments had been established.

In becoming the custodians or the guardians of the property of others, bankers assume what has been fittingly described as one of the "most exalted human relationships ever created by law." They become at once a big brother, a big sister, an advisor, or a confessor, sworn so to conduct themselves that clients will be won to them by their ability and integrity.

Thousands of little children have received an education and have been started off right in life through the trust department's safe keeping and guidance of the family estate, numberless widows have been protected from merciless stock swindlers, many thousands of business men have been relieved of troublesome details in the conduct of their business through the creation of a living trust and still others have safeguarded their business enterprises through life insurance trusts.

The favorable reaction of the public toward trust department service is not accidental. It may be traced jointly to the growing intelligence of the American people in financial affairs and to advertising to the world at large the merits of trust services. Advertising used in a sensible, judicious way is necessary, a power that has accomplished much good for humanity.

Among the detailed services, rendered by a trust department the one that seems to be winning favor the fastest is the life insurance trust. Life insurance is the quickest known way of creating an estate. In reality it affords the possessor the opportunity of setting up a positive monetary safeguard for his family and then paying for it on the installment plan.

A married man is not fair to his family if he fails to carry life insurance. I would say to the young man, "Buy insurance before you buy the ring," and to the young woman I would say, "Marry no man so thoughtless as to scoff at life insurance."

MODERN EDUCATION REVERSES OLD IDEAS

Business Institutes Use the Plan of Getting People to Think Rather Than Merely to Learn.

There is one general principle at the basis of all good teaching and it is that a person learns more readily by assimilating the experiences which he himself encounters than in any other way, says Harold Stonier, National Educational Director of the American Institute of Banking. This institute is the educational section of the American Bankers Association through which 35,000 bank men and women are receiving scientific instruction in their chosen business.

"The most advanced people in teaching today are emphasizing the importance of activity on the part of the student," he says. "In the school-room of former days we often heard such phrases as, 'Be still,' 'Learn by heart,' 'Don't do that,' 'What does the book say?' The newer education asks, 'What do you think?' 'What was your reaction to that experiment?' 'What did you discover?' 'What reasons have you for answer?'"

The New School Calls for Action

"The 'expressing' school is taking the place of the repressing and listening school. The classroom is becoming an open forum, a studio of self-expression, a place of mental growth. The modern concepts of education are personal experimentation, individual investigation, critical discussion and creative self-expression. The pupil really learns only as he is able to assimilate the new meanings of facts and principles with his previous experiences. Activities therefore constitute the pivotal force around which are grouped the new factors in education. The primary responsibility of the teacher is to furnish a constant stream of activities which will afford the stimulating urge to mental growth.

"Education is a process of experiencing, and the program of the institute is so arranged as to give the greatest opportunity to gain by such experience. Through this we develop the art of thinking. Thinking has been described as the ability to handle experience and to bring it to bear on a problem. Effective thinking arises when we are presented with the choice of conduct. Our previous experiences become helpful as we marshal them and bring them to bear upon the matter of our choice."

The students in the American Institute of Banking by reason of the fact that they continue to go on about their employment in banks while taking the banking association's study courses have an opportunity to combine learning with practical thinking and action.

Defective chimneys and heating apparatus are one of the principal causes of farm fires, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture, which recommends the following precautions. Chimneys should be built from the ground up and should not be used to support any part of the house. They should be substantially constructed with walls at least 8 inches thick. Defective chimneys should be rebuilt and faulty heating apparatus repaired. Stoves should rest on substantial fire-resistant bases and should be at safe distances from wooden floors, wall and woodwork. When stovepipes are passed through walls or ceilings a ventilating thimble of ample size should be used. Chimneys and flues should be cleaned frequently, and ashes should be kept in metal cans, never in wooden boxes, barrels or on combustible floors. Fire-retardant roofing should be used whenever possible.

SLUGGISH AND TIRED, DE-CLARES GALVESTON MAN

Albert Gustafson, Veteran Fisherman. Says Orgatone Has Put Him On Road to Recovery.

Mr. Albert Gustafson, widely known fisherman of Galveston, Texas, who makes his home at 20th and Wharf, testifies to the beneficial results of Orgatone.

Mr. Gustafson has been a fisherman for years, and has endured all the hardships of that strenuous calling. He has weathered storms on the Great Lakes and passed through many trying experiences. Yet even his hardy constitution was not proof against the undermining influence of a disordered stomach.

"I had gas on my stomach," relates Mr. Gustafson, "was constipated, had bad breath and a bad taste in the mouth. In the mornings I did not feel good, but was tired and sluggish and I would belch quite a bit."

Hearing Orgatone recommended as a really good medicine, Mr. Gustafson decided to try it himself. Questioned as to the effect it had on him, he replied:

"The gas is not so bad, and of course, I am relieved of that tight, stuffy feeling. Food agrees with me now and I feel fine when I get up of mornings."

"I have only taken a little over one bottle, but it has proven to me it is going to be a great benefit to me."

"I recommend it because it has helped me and I think it will fix me O. K."

Genuine Orgatone (Argotane) may be obtained in Hondo at the W. H. Windrow Drug Store.

There is no drug nor combination of drugs which can be converted into a competent treatment for pyorrhea, say medical authorities. The Food, Drug and Insecticide Administration is at present in the midst of a campaign to remove from the market tooth pastes, mouth washes and similar preparations fraudulently labeled as a competent treatment for this serious ailment.

Great Changes In Highway Building

Writer Tells of Immense Advance Which Has Been Made.

Research Fostered by Material Men Has Helped Greatly.

Dallas, Texas.—The "science of road-building" has undergone such radical changes in recent years, in response to ever growing demands for economical highways capable of bearing the constantly increasing traffic, that it may be said to have been newly created. And in embarking on its big highway building program during the past three years, Texas is having the benefit and will continue to have the benefit of all this progress.

Such is the conclusion of P. J. R. MacIntosh in his second article in The Texas Monthly, surveying the highway situation in Texas. "Better and Straighter Roads" is the title of the article, and he declares that such is the present object of everybody connected with the business of building highways.

"That the highway department is determined to carry forward Texas' construction program under conditions which shall embody the best practice in the light of fully tested experience," writes MacIntosh. "As shown by the fact that at the present time a committee of leading engineers is completely revising the department's standard specifications. This committee, which was chosen to perform this important task by Chief Engineer Gibb Gilchrist, and which is headed by A. P. Rollins of Dallas, has been at work for several months, and already has submitted three drafts of the new specifications to all interested parties, including engineers, material manufacturers, contractors and others, for suggested revision."

MacIntosh points out that the committee has had the active co-operation of material manufacturers, contractors, and all others concerned with road building. The new specifications, he says, will embody the collective experience of all of these, and they will measure up to the best in the country.

Research Has Helped
"It is a fact," he writes, "that the various interests concerned with road building have vied with each other since the rise of motor traffic to contribute toward the solution of the various problems which have been encountered. The manufacturers of the major materials in the United States—cement, asphalt, brick, sand and gravel, crushed stone—all have national organizations which have fostered constant research which has been richly productive of results and which has been one of the chief driving forces toward the goal of better and more economical highways. The motive has been selfish, it may be said, and the primary object in each case has been to promote the interest of the particular industry involved. But the public, nevertheless, has been the chief beneficiary of this progress, and Texas will be the beneficiary of it in carrying forward its great highway construction program."

Some Important Changes
Enumerating some of the changes which have taken place, MacIntosh writes as follows:
"First of all the increased traffic and the greater distances habitually traveled have made the location of the road—the course of the right-of-way—so to speak—of much greater importance than it was in the past, when the necessity of roads of uniform strength to bear certain volumes of traffic, up to a maximum, has made absolutely essential a uniformity of the materials going into the building of every foot of a given road, and this need has been met by a revolutionary change in the character of aggregates—the sand, gravel, and crushed stone which go into the base of any high type road. Today aggregates are graded as carefully as cotton, and any given quantity of a certain grade will run uniform throughout."

"There is a better knowledge of the character and use of all materials today than ten years ago, or even five years ago, an improvement which the manufacturers of these materials have done much to achieve. For example, practically nothing was known of the physical properties of asphalt, whereas today it is an accurately known and controlled product. Moreover, practically in the past ten years we have developed in Texas a natural asphalt product, the limestone rock asphalt mined in Uvalde county. Concrete today is immeasurably superior, and the methods of road construction with this material have been revolutionized, largely due to the research fostered by the cement manufacturers through the Portland Cement Association."

Straighter Roads Needed
"Ten years ago one-way bridges were universally regarded as adequate in Texas, whereas today the highway department has established a minimum requirement of 24 feet width of roadway on all bridges. Wider right-of-ways for highways are now insisted upon by the department, the minimum being fixed at 100 feet, whereas until recently 60 feet was regarded as ample. Ten years ago we built roads so that the surface sloped upward to the middle to an elevation of six inches, now the 'crown' is only one and a half inches high."

MacIntosh enumerates other improved practices. He emphasizes, however, that straighter roads, following the shortest route between main points, will be one of the greatest advances if they can be obtained through the co-operation of the people. They will save millions of dollars a year to Texas motor traffic, he says.

MacIntosh's next article will be on the highway situation in the lower Rio Grande Valley.

SOME MENUS AND RECIPES.

By Domestic Science Department, College of Industrial Arts.

Cheese should be used freely in the diet, but remember that it is a concentrated food and should not be eaten after a heavy meal. One pound of cheese contains as much nourishment as two pounds of porterhouse steak, besides being rich in minerals necessary for bone building and all body processes. Ground steak cakes make an inexpensive meat. Buy an inexpensive cut of round or shoulder steak and grind. Shape in little cakes, season and broil over a hot fire in a pan with but a little fat added. A little onion juice for seasoning is liked by many. Be careful not to overcook as this makes it hard and causes it to lose flavor.

Waldorf Salad—Mix equal quantities of finely cut apple and celery, and moisten with mayonnaise dressing. Garnish with curled celery and canned pimientos cut in strips. An attractive way to serve this salad is to remove tops from red or green apples, scoop out inside pulp. Refill shells with the salad, replace tops, serve on lettuce leaves.

Cheese Straws—Roll puff or plain paste 1/4 inch thick, sprinkle one-half with grated cheese (little salt and pepper added). Fold, press edges together, fold again, roll 1/4 inch thick. Sprinkle with cheese and proceed as before; repeat twice. Cut in strips 5 inches long and 1/4 inch wide. Bake 8 minutes in hot oven. Pie log cabin fashion and serve with salad course.

A TRUE LOVE PARTY.

By Juliette Frasier.
Instead of the usual St. Valentine party why not introduce a novelty in the form of "A True Love Party?" It is not at all difficult to carry out and it is both unexpected and amusing. This may be played progressively, so small tables should be provided. Have a different game at each table and have the players move from one to another. At the first have small sheets of paper on which are written the names of famous lovers. The player is to supply the name of the heroine of each lover mentioned on his sheet of paper. For instance, Romeo will have Juliet; John Alden, Priscilla Dean, etc.

At the second table titles of well known love stories are given and the players are asked to name the authors. As love stories have always been young people's favorites, it will not be difficult for them to remember the names of the authors who wrote on this most entertaining subject.

"From whom are you expecting a valentine?" will make most any young person feel embarrassed and therefore, cause them to smile.

The fifth table will give a little touch of the regulation St. Valentine party. On that table will be found red cardboard hearts which are cut into the regulation puzzle picture—instead of a picture, however, there will be a little love prophecy for each person present. The game is to who can first put one together. The player who wins at the end of number of tables will receive a first prize. The prize may be a ginger bread heart covered with frosting or a pretty little basket filled with heart-candies.

Progression in games of this kind differs from an ordinary card game. Thus let two from the first move to the second, the other two to the third table. Two from second table to the third, and other two to the fourth, and so on. Thus there will be a different game at every table every time.

After the games refreshments served. These may consist of sandwiches, fruit salad and sweet pickles, pink ice cream, shaped frosted cookies, coffee pink popcorn balls.
